Adds Value to Your Home

Given today's home prices Canadians are finding that remodelling instead of moving can be the answer when a family's needs change. Many homeowners approach renovations with an eye to resale value.

The Bathroom - Improving an existing, but outdated, bathroom is almost always a good investment. An up-to-date bathroom makes your home look like it's been kept in good repair, and that's what all prospective homeowners are looking for. However, homeowners should be cautious and not to try to personalize their bathrooms too much, because it's in neutral colours, walls, and metals to which buyers gravitate.

In other words, think twice about adding a pricey imported soaking tub or three separate shower stalls for your growing family's convenience, or adding flowery wallpaper. Those renovations might not fit the taste of a buyer 10 years down the road. Yet, you should always consult with your contractor because they have the knowledge to help you make the right decisions that will lead to more money in your pocket come selling season.

The Kitchen - Renovating your kitchen is the most profitable way to increase your home's value according to Canadian Real Estate agents. Make sure you choose a design that is modern, sleek and sophisticated and stay away from bold colours - keep things neutral! Also, a kitchen remodelling job is definitely not a "do-it-yourself" project, so trust this endeavour with your contractor as it is a project best left to the pros!
